

Experience the best of New York with the Relais & Chateaux

Town & Country Package

The Surrey – Privately New York

Built in 1926 as a residence hotel, the original Surrey was home to many of New York's most eccentric celebrities. JFK, Bette Davis, Claudette Colbert, and other famous faces who recognized the allure of exceptional, discreet service. In re-creating The Surrey, we collaborated with acclaimed interior designer Lauren Rottet of Rottet Studio—to maintain the integrity of The Surrey's history while modernizing New York's most intimate address. Rottet's inspiration was a New York City townhouse passed down through the generations.

The Surrey is New York City's only Relais & Chateaux hotel. An intimate Upper East Side hotel, it is reminiscent of a Manhattan residence, where discreet service allows guests to retreat from the public—and keep a low profile in an otherwise high profile lifestyle.

A marriage of classic and modern mirrored by a high-contrast aesthetic, The Surrey is a residential haven and luxury Upper East Side hotel getaway where guests access and revel in what makes New York City special—without compromising calm personal space.

It's a transcendent experience, where the high-energy Manhattan milieu meets cathartic uptown service and discretion. Privately New York.

Spectacular Hilltop Mansion Known As Glenmere

The Gilded Age retreat of the Goelet family, Glenmere was one of America's finest country homes, once host to royalty, aristocracy, and leading artists. Now it is reborn as a premier luxury hotel and spa. With just 18 guest accommodations, 2 superb restaurants, and exceptional recreational facilities including a full-service spa with bath house/Hamman, a discerning few will rediscover in Glenmere a model of refined relaxation. From its lush meadows and formal gardens to its sweeping marble staircases, grand cortile, and gracious terraces, Glenmere evokes European-style elegance and sophistication. Less than 50 miles from New York City, the gates of Glenmere are open again, inviting you to experience unparalleled personal service in an extraordinarily glamorous setting.
